

Karen Morris

Karen is part of the Knowledge Management Hub, where she leads on design, including printed and online materials. She also supports on database management, management of web resources and logistical assistance for webinars and conferences. Before specialising in Knowledge Management, Karen was the project coordinator for the Kuyasa Clean Development Mechanism project, and project manager for the Hopefield Home Improvement project. Karen holds a Girl Friday diploma and a certificate in project management from the University of Stellenbosch Business School. Once upon a time, in a land far away, Karen played pool for Rhodes University's social league team. Her current hobbies include gardening and knitting.